

International Planned Parenthood Federation Commitment

Narrative:

By 2030, IPPF* will increase access to client-centered and rights-based contraception in at least 102 countries, provided through Member Associations. We will advance equity -- focusing on reaching the poor, marginalized, and people living in humanitarian settings, with specific attention to young people and adolescents. We will ensure individual choices are met through advocating for commodity security and providing a wide range of contraceptive options integrated in a full package of sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) services. We will expand innovative and gender-transformative strategies, including digital health interventions and facilitated self-care, alongside on-site service provision that responds to people's needs. We will further strengthen data and clinic management systems and promote data utilization across Member Associations to inform programme and management decision-making. We will proactively advocate for legislative changes in support or defence of SRHR and gender equality in 42 countries.

*IPPF is currently in the process of developing its new strategic framework. IPPF will revise its FP2030 commitment post its strategic framework refresh in January 2023 to identify targets and outcomes.